

Examples Educational Master Plans from Other California Community Colleges

I searched the Web and found links to a number of Educational Master Plans that are similar to what we have been discussing (quite a few of the links that came back through Google are for facilities plans). I have ordered them based on how long they are. You may be able to find others that you like that we should consider.

I have also provided a link to a planning document from Los Rios CCD that Cindy Miles sent me. She likes the way they have addressed the issues and trends.
